

Kentucky History Education Conference: Call for Proposals

Interested in presenting at the conference? Do you have an innovative classroom practice or an engaging history topic to share with educators? Then, consider submitting your session proposal for this year's Kentucky History Education Conference (KHEC). Each summer, KHEC gathers K-12 educators from across the state for a daylong conference to explore content, obtain resources, hear from leading scholars and learn about other educators' proven classroom strategies.

2018 Kentucky History Education Conference

Theme: Triumph and Tragedy in History

Date: Thursday, July 12, 2018

Location: Thomas D. Clark Center for Kentucky History in Frankfort

Your session may wish to address any of the following areas of instruction for Kentucky teachers as they relate to the theme "Triumph and Tragedy in History":

- Facilitated geography lessons
- Project-based learning or Document Based Questioning lessons with Kentucky connections
- Teaching students how to conduct an oral history
- C3 lessons using primary sources
- Teaching National History Day in your classroom
- History lessons that teach students how to confront current issues

If you feel you have a topic or activity (especially involving primary sources) that would benefit social studies teachers and supports the conference theme, please fill out the form and submit it to Claire E. Gwaltney (contact information below).

Deadline for proposals: April 2, 2018

We will notify selected presenters by April 13, 2018. Bonus: Accepted presenters will have their conference fee waived and lunch provided.

Please feel free to share this call for proposals to anyone you know that may be interested. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,
Claire E. Gwaltney
